

Learning is inclusive so why aren't our schools? Children should imagine with others that are different than them. Especially with special needs kids, it is beneficial for differently abled students to have combined play and learning time. School should be a place where all abilities are welcome and celebrated.